

COVID-19 UPDATE

In an update to yesterday's communication to our customers, today we learned that New Jersey Gov. Phil Murphy has formally announced through executive orders 107 and 108, the designation of essential and non-essential businesses, effective Saturday, March 21 at 9 PM.

Through executive order 107, hardware and building material retail has been designated as an essential business. In addition to that, construction operations have been designated as essential businesses. Lastly, manufacturing and logistics operations that support building material supply and construction have been designated as essential.

Although we will be open for business on Monday at 7 AM, we would like to let our customers and associates know that we will strongly encourage delivery, express pickup and curbside pickup for all material purchases. In addition to that we will be undergoing various measures to keep our store and facility clean and prevent the potential spread of any virus. Please come into our store only if you absolutely have to.

Professional Contractors - If you need more clarity on how these designations can affect your business and how you can work with HBS to continue supporting your business overall, please don't hesitate to reach out to us via phone, email or text.

Homeowner Customers - We know staying at home for an extended period of time can be difficult. If you need hardware items and supplies to help tackle projects around the house, we'd be happy to deliver them for you or make them available through our curbside and express pickup options. Our store is open, should you need to come in.

Our business operation is going to be modified for the foreseeable future, so we would like to thank all of our customers and associates in advance for their patience as we work to continuously deliver the highest level of service and customer attention we possibly can.

Stay Safe and Stay Healthy,
